

Reims Champagne – France

A connoisseur's dream!

Reims is about 15 miles from Paris and is the heart of Champagne. The city has just under 200,000 inhabitants and is located on the Aisne-Marne canal. Here you can find, among other things, one of France's largest and most powerful Gothic cathedrals, but it is because of the champagne Reims is most famous for...

The oldest champagne houses in Reims have impressive cellars down in de gallo - Romanesque chalk quarries where the drink is stored and around the city there are several champagne houses, some with elegant castles and beautiful gardens, well worth a visit.
